BLAIR'S RESOLUTION TO LIMIT GENERAL DEBATE.

He Defends It as Necessary in Order to Expedite the Senate's Work.

The Resolution Will Remain in Committee Until Demand for Its Adoption is Necessary.

The Senate Spends the Day on Mr. Vest's Amendment of Friday-No Quorum Appears on the Vote-The Sundry Civil Bill Goes to Conference-Notes.

Washington, August 2.—The senate met at 10 o'clock this morning. A call of the roll showed that there were forty-nine senators (six more than a quorum) present. Petitions were presented from Ohio favering an increase of duty on barley; from Alabama protesting against the passage of the federal election bill, and from the wage worker's political alliance of Washington, D. C., asking that when bills are introduced by senators at the request of any association the fact shall appear in the print of the bills.

Mr. Morrill was granted unlimited leave

e print of the bills. Mr. Morrill was granted unlimited leave of absence on account of the condition of his health.

The credentials of Edward D. White, as senator from the state of Louisiana for the full term beginning the 4th of March, 1891, (to succeed Mr. Eastis) were presented and aid on the table.

The senate bills authorizing the construction of bridges across the Chattahoches and Oconee rivers, Georgia, were reported and placed on the calendar.

The senate joint resolution to permit Lieutenant Colonel Henry C. Carbin, United States army, to accept a civil position in the World's Columbian commission was reported and passed.

was reported and passed.

The resolution offered yesterday by Mr. Blair instructing the committee on rules to report within four days a rule for the incorporation of the previous question or of some method for limiting and closing debate in the parliamentary proceedure of the senate was taken un. the senate was taken up.

Mr. Blair said that senators had spoken

Mr. Blair said that senntors had spoken to him indicating their desire to be heard before action should be taken in the mat-ter and who were not ready to proceed this morning. But he desired to say that he had offered the resolution, not with refer-ence to any pending bill, but with a feel-ing that there was a necessity for the proposed change. The had offered the resolution, not with reference to any pending bill, but with a feeling that there was a necessity for the proposed change. The period had arrived, he thought, when in the transaction of the country's business, the senate must have some way by which a larger number of important public measures could be decided. The difficulty hitherto had been in the other house of congress but that difficulty had been of congress but that difficulty had been as all senators knew, removed to some extent, so that action was obtained there more promptly than formerly. The sem te, which had been hitherto the more expeditions body in the transaction of business, was now liable to be, and in fact was, far behind, he meant far behind, in its capacity to reach and decide whatever measure a majority was disposed to pass.

As it now was the whole business of the ticular measure now pending, or that neight be pending to thought that the subject matter of his resolution should re-ceive the early and earnest consideration of the senate. He was not clear but that it was imposatively necessary that the matter should be considered prior to any pending measure, even to the tariff bill. Nobody could complain that there had been a disposition to procrastinate or to obstruct the ordinary course of debate and discus-sion on the tariff bill. Although the senate had already spent ten days on it, only ten pages had been disposed of out of a total of 282 pages in the bill. All the great subjects of discussion, sugar, reciprocity, etc., were still to come. There was no reason to sup-pose, therefore, that under the existing the bill would be concluded before ext December. He had offered the reso next December. He had offered the resolution with a view not to any pending measure, but with a view to a great change, a fundamental, radical, indespensable change, in the parliamentary proceedure of the senate. He would call up the resolution here after unless it should appear in some other form authorized by a larger constituency.

long time (six or seven week) consumed in the consideration of the educational bill and said that the time had not been wanted, as the result of the discussion of that hill had been its defeat, just as he hoped that the debate on the tariff bill would result in question being on Mr. Vest's amendment to reduce the duty on decorated China 50 per cent, ad valorem, and on plain ware, undercrated China, to 40 per cent, instead of 60 and 65 per cent, in the house bill and of 55 and 60 as proposed by the finance

Mr. Vest argued in support of his amendment and having had occasion in the course of his remarks to question a statement made by Mr. Brewer, a pottery manufacturer of Trenton, N. J., he spoke of that gentleman as having, when he was a member of the house of representatives, at the time the tariff bill of 1881 was before that body, exhibited a piece of ware known as "Beliek" and said that that represented in its cost 99 per cent of labor, conveying the impression that that ware was generally manufactured in this country, while ally manufactured in this country the fact was that the article exhibited was the only piece made at the time, so that the assertion that it represented % per cent of labor was probably true. He therefore did not care to take Mr. Brewer's statement. He was a very honest, honorable man, but he was a manufacturer and his statement was an ex parte one.
Mr. Hiscock, replying to Mr. Vest, said that he had imagined that there was not a member of the house at that time who did not know that the article exhibited by Mr. Brewer was not then made in the United States except as an experiment. He referred sarcastically to Mr. McPher son as a senator, who resolutely and with

After further discussion of the china-mere paragraph, Mr. George took the floor and make a long speech on the general abject of tariff, contending that proection had nothing to do with wages, but mat half the wealth of the country was word by 100,000 persons, he said that if the system which assumed the regulation by the government of the business, the lives and fortunes of men was continued as the pending bill proposed of the treasury today purchased $144.80 to continue it, a scutiment would be pro-

If men saw that they were robbed or pillaged, taxed for the ben-efit of others while they themselves were kept in poverty, they would inquire why the same governmental agencies that rob-bed them of their daily toll for the benefit of the overrich should not be employed to take from the spoiler that which he had unjustly got. He did not wish to see that day come.

day come.

Mr. Platt repelled and denounced an assertion made by Mr. George, to the effect that while the duty on steel rails was $11 a ton, the labor in producing the article cost only $1.54. He supposed that the senator believed what he said, though no schoolboy would believe it. But the fact was that, if the production of a ton of schoolboy would believe it. But the fact was that, if the production of a ton of steel rails cost $24, the labor per ton of that cost was not only $1.54 but ten times that amount. But Hewitt had put his foot on that misrepresentation in the house of representatives in a way that ought to be remembered by Democratic senators.

Mr. Hawley also commented upon Mr. George's speech and remarked that he had heard that senator say much the same thing before and that his remarks had then been quite as conclusively contradicted as they had just now been by his colleague (Mr. Platt). He ridiculed the solemnity with which Mr. George had intimated that the people of the north were living over a volcano and said that if he would make such a speech in New England, he would be considered as supplementing a negro ministrel company for menting a negro ministrel company for the amusement of his hearers. Mr. Jones, of Arkansas, supported Mr. George's statement about steel rails. He

Mr. Reagan in discussing the general question of protection spoke of the organization of farmers' alliances and workingmen's associations that were protesting against gross legislation and blundering laws. He warned senators that such a movement was not to be ignored.

A conference was ordered on the sundry civil appropriation bill and Messrs. Allison, Hale and Gorman were appointed conferees on the part of the senate.

At 5 o'clock Mr. Aldrich (intending to move an adjournment) proposed that the vote on the pending question be taken on Monday without further discussion.

"Take the vote now, we are ready; we are always ready to vote as soon as discussion is over," were the responses from several senators on the Democratic side. Mr. Aldrich did not think there was a The vote was taken on Mr. Vest's amendment and the result was—yeas 17, nays 20, no quorum. Messrs Paddock and Plumb voted aye with the Democrats.

The senate then adjourned.

AN AMERICAN'S BLOODY WORK.

LONDON, August 2.- A shocking double LONDON, August 2.—A shocking double murder occurred in a bar room on Kings-land road in this city Thursday night, which all the London papers characterize as an "American tragedy." A discharged soldier named Hargan, alias Harper, quar-reled with Wm. Lambert and James Wheeler while sitting together at the bar. The landlord ejected them. When outside, Harzon immediately drew a Colt's revolver Hargon immediately drew a Colt's revolver and shot both men through the head. They fell dead on the sidewalk. The bystanders attempted to capture the murderer, who immediately shot again, killing the third man. An eaormous and excited crowd then gathered round Hargan, who kept every one at bay leveling his revolver and backing down the street. No one had the courage to make an attempt to capture him until Hargon immediately drew a Colt's revolver make an attempt to capture him until Wm. Knifton, abrother of the prize-lighter, and another man grappled with him. Then began a desperate fight for life. Hargan managed to fire his revolver three times into the crowd without hitting Knifton or doing any damage. The fight lasted a quarier of an hour, during which time Knifton damage of an hour, during which time Kniffon was nearly killed and Hargan nearly torn to pieces. His clothes were stripped from him, and, when finally exhausted and bleeding he fell to the sidewalk, the crowd stamped on him, threw stones on him, and would have lynched him but for the arrival of a squad of police. Hargan left the West Surrey regiment three months ago and went to New York in search of employment. He was not successful in finding it and returned here a few days ago. While in New York he bought the revolver with which he did the shooting. He claims that the dead men robbed him the night before, and at the station house, in giving his deposition, he said that he had served them only as they would have been sevred in America for a similar offense. He says he has been a clerk in New York, also in Philadeiphia. His full name is Walter Alfred Hargan, and he is evidently a man of some refinement and education.

THE BILL DENOUNCED. Election Bill,

Columbus. O. August 2.—A meeting under the anspices of the Thurman club to protest against the passage of the federal election bill was held at the east front of the capitol this evening. There were 1.500 people present. It was expected that Judge Thurman would preside and make a brief speech, but when the committee called to escort him to the meeting, he presented them with a letter to be read which contained his regrets and the information that sickness alone prevented him from fulfilling his promise. wrote briefly a denxiciatory of the bill and its provisions and hoped to be able to say something more at length at another time, though he expressed the opinion that the measure would not pass the senate or at least he was hopeful it would not.

A letter of regret was read from ex-President Cleveland in which he expressed a desire to be enrolled among those who protested against the passage of the bill and expressed the wish that the indications were not so numerous that a stage of congressional reak leasness had been reached in which the protests of the people have little right. Senator-elect Brice sent a letter in which he expressed sympathy with the object of the meeting and regarded the proposed law as repugnant to Democratic ideas and full of danger to the republic.

The first speech of the evening was made by ex-Congressman Converse, in which he considered the conseitutionality of the measure and denounced it as a scheme for the perpetuation of the party in power. A long address was delivered by A. E. Lee, ex-consul at Frankfort under President Hayes in which he endeavored to give the causes which had led up to the proposal of the federal elections bill. His remarks were principally directed to the tariff and were in opposition to the McKinley hill.

Governor Campbell was not reached in the list of speakers until a late hour and did not talk at length. He devoted his time to an explanation of the provisions of the bill and the probable result of the enforcement. Regarding the recent publication that Campbell would employ the state militin in opposition to the enforcement of the Lodge bill in this state, he said the whole statement was a falsehood and that was all he-had to say about it.

M. D. Hartner, of Mansfield, nominee for congress, addressed the neeting briefly and resolutions were in sympathy with the ly and resolutions of protest presented by Allen W. Thurman was adopted. The resolutions were in sympathy with the general tenor of the addresses.
